

Private Consultations

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS

Prepare effectively for high-stakes presentations, board meetings, press and media interviews.

Please check the workshop calendar online for the most current information on workshop dates and locations.

As a business professional, you know the importance of preparation for any communication situation. But, because of your busy schedule, preparation time may be limited. Communicating with confidence is a leadership skill. Being able to motivate, persuade or inspire others to action is what business is all about. Whether you have a high stakes presentations, need to communicate a strategic initiative throughout your company or be effective in one on one's with your associates, Private Coaching is designed to meet your specific needs.

Focus areas include content development and organization, handling challenging questions and working on your delivery skills using video feedback. The half-day or one-day consultation is tailored to your specific needs. One of our Executive Consultants will meet with you to work on a specific communication situation integrating your personal style in the areas of Content Organization, Delivery Skill Enhancement and Effective Interaction with your listeners.

The consultation can be held at your offices or it can be taken off-site in order to eliminate distractions. One-day or half-day sessions are offered.

WORKSHOP DETAILS

- Behavioral Communication Skills
- Impromptu Speaking Skills
- Involving Your Audience
- Creation & Use of Visual Aids
- Developing and Organizing Content
- Handling Challenging Questions
- Identification and Enhancement of Your Personal Style
- Extensive Use of Video Feedback
- Humanizing Your Message

To register for a seminar or for further inquiries please call: 877-296-3121

e-mail: info@procomm ltd.com website: www.procomm ltd.com